At Davy's we take pride in finding excellent food and wine, so we personally go out to meet our suppliers. Over the years, we've found that the people who produce the most outstanding ingredients and most interesting wines are often small family companies like ourselves. We no longer seal a contract on a handshake like Francis Edwin Davy did when he founded Davy's in 1870. But we still think that trust, integrity and an obsession about being the best is the key to making everyone feel at home.
